What Ails Our Money?
No Profit From War

A RATHER dull day.
Europe's money is going up, sure going down. The franc is worth double what it was a short time ago in dollars. The pound sterling, for the gold dollars and cents for more than it did in the good old gold days.
Does Europe suspect us of evil intentions as regards money? If so, the suspecting is wasted. The American dollar is the best dollar because the American nation has the most wealth back of its money. It was the most gold, but that is not important. Gold means no more than stamps, or covey shells.

We may have war forced upon us suddenly like a flash of lightning, but President Roosevelt is determined that nobody will be made any profit out of war. He says "the time has come to take the profit out of war. The boys in the trenches got $1 a day, and the boys in the munitions factory got $8 to $10 a day."

That is good for far-ahed planning, but if war came suddenly, it would be necessary to get fighting material, poison gas, bombs, fighting airplanes, submarines, in any way possible, as rapidly as possible, regardless of cost. Last time we spent one thousand million dollars for munitions that would not fly. Preparation in advance would have been cheaper.
Every department of war is expensive. Munitions cost a lot in the beginning of a war. The "boys in the trenches" are underpaid, to begin with, and immediately after they have been gassed and wounded and it is too late to do them any good, too late to give them a great deal of the big war will cost. Billions for pensions FIFTY BILLIONS at least before the whole bill is settled.

To get fifty million dollars for the poor, New York city put a 2 per cent sales tax on virtually everything, except food, bought in the stores. It was thought this would discourage Christmas buying, discouraging one employment in factories, causing a gloom over Christmas. But it appears that the tax has not actually reduced Christmas buying. Retail Christmas purchases have increased by 10 per cent. Americans may get used to being taxed, as ads are supposed to be "used to being taxed."

There is no doubt that a nationwide sales tax properly applied and administered would provide the best possible solution. And all merchants would approve it.

Patrolman John P. Monahan, in plain clothes, and Detective Harry Abramowitz were investigating a gambling case when somebody shot and killed Monahan. Abramowitz, standing by the policeman's coffin, vowed, "In the name of Moses, I will not rest until I have found your murderer."

He has fulfilled his vow, arresting Joseph Sornsky, who confesses that he was frightened and killed Monahan. The grand jury, and perhaps the electric chair, will do the rest.

That was a good vow, but officers of the law should become as much excited, just as anxious to find the criminal, when an ordinary citizen is killed as when a policeman or a government agent is killed. Plain citizens also die being shot.

No Truth in 'Oil Strike,' Says Marian

Screen Actress Marian Marsh, who wants it known, has not struck oil in the sense of having become engaged to Howard Hughes, millionaire "Petroleum King." He and she are just good pals, she insists. And Hughes, like a gentleman, doesn't contradict the lady.

Hauptmann in Court

International News Service Staff Correspondent
Flemington, N. J., Dec. 13.—Justice Thomas W. Trenchard ruled this afternoon that the state of New Jersey "should be required to answer, insofar as it can with reasonable certainty," what caused the death of little Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

The judge's decision was in connection with a petition filed in behalf of Bruno Hauptmann, charged with the murder of the Lindbergh boy, in which the prosecution was asked to show cause why the defendant should not be furnished with a bill of particulars.
Twelve questions were raised in the defense petition. The judge ruled that the state would not be required to furnish particulars on the first 11 questions. On "Question Number 12" the state will have to answer, if they can, with "reasonable certainty." This question is:

"What does the state contend was the cause of death of the said Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.?" Hauptmann, pale-faced, furtive and frown-browed, was in the courtroom throughout the proceedings. He heard Frederick Pope of defense counsel plead that all 12 questions must be answered in order that the defense could "expeditiously and economically" prepare for its defense. Attorney-General Joseph Langston argued that the indictment was sufficient and covered all points involved.
The prisoner had nothing to say during the proceedings. His presence was noted and the arguments proceeded. He listened intently while the courtroom crowd gaped at him.

4 Girls in Family Burned to Death

Bedford, Va., Dec. 13 (AP)—Four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Nichols were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their farm home near here. Other members of the family who escaped suffered shock and exposure.

$30,000 FUR, SILK LOAD HUCKLED

Four gunmen stole a truckload of silks and furs valued at $30,000 in Kneeland street today, kidnapping the driver and later releasing him.

The load of valuable merchandise, consigned to several Boston firms, had arrived from New York and was parked in front of the Sterling Express Company when the robbery took place.
Harry Banks of 31 Hampshire street, Lawrence, was driving at the wheel of a parked car for the express office, to open him.
Banks related to detectives his story of the holdup.

"It was about 3:15 this morning when I pulled in. I had curled up on the seat for a nap and suddenly two men opened the door, pointing revolvers, and ordered me to 'push over.' One of the men got behind the wheel, while the other poked a gun into my side.
"They drove over to South Boston to B and Sixth streets. Two men in a small sedan were waiting for me. They forced me to lie down the floor of the car.
"They drove around for about one hour and a half. During all this time, the men in the back seat kept pressing a gun into my side. At long intervals they stopped for about five minutes at a gas station.
"When they stopped the car again, they told me to get out and walk in the opposite direction. They also said, 'If I failed to obey, they would give me the works.'
"I then discovered I was on Tremont street, Somerville, and immediately notified police."

'Our Daddy Came in Time'

Shanghai, Dec. 13—Cramped in a roadside ditch, the longings of John C. Starn of Petersburg, N. J., and his young wife, from Holyoke, Mass., were found today a few miles from the scene of their kidnapping.

The missionary couple were again by Chinese Communist bandits, but the fate of their daughter, Margaret, aged 3 months, seized with them at Changsha, Southern Anhwei Province, has not been learned.
The bodies, apparently lying along a ditch alongside the highway leading out of Tsingtau, were found by members of a searching party that had scouted the region since the missionary family was seized early this week.
Mrs. Starn was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Starn of Amherst street, Holyoke.
She was born in China, said to be trained for missionary work in this country. Her father was a noted missionary. The Starns had been married only 16 months.
Tsingtau has been one of the strongholds of the Communist rebel forces, which the National government has been fighting since last year.

DECOYS BOING HUNTER DEATH

Marblehead, Dec. 13—Wounded decoys with which he hoped to lure ducks to destruction today cost the life of Arthur G. Wright, 38, of Evans road, a carpenter, father of six children.

Wright drowned when he fell from his boat 300 feet off Marblehead Neck and became tangled in the anchor line of his decoys.
His shooting companion, Walter H. Wright, 28, of Stone's terrace, was thrown into the sea at the same time when a wave upset his boat.
Wright's body was found after a courageous effort and fully clothed swim with it to shore. The pair were drawn from the surf by Alfred Lefebvre, a caretaker of a nearby cove.

Nazi Food Ruler's Powers Increased

Berlin, Dec. 13 (INS)—The already great powers of Dr. Karl Doederlein, Reich's food minister, were sharply increased today.

Doederlein was given unlimited power to fix the prices of all foodstuffs throughout the country, and to close down any firm violating his dictates.

Steel Institute Elects Grace Head

New York, Dec. 13 (INS)—Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., was today elected head of the American Iron & Steel Institute at a directors' meeting.

Grace fills the place vacant for months by the resignation of Charles M. Schwab.

PRIVATE BUSINESS TO SPEND BILLION IN '35 BROOM PLAN

MOFFETT BARES GIGANTIC REPLACEMENT PROGRAMS

By International News Service

New York, Dec. 13.—The nation's great corporations will spend a billion dollars next year in long-delayed capital improvements to speed recovery, Federal Housing Administrator James A. Moffett announced today.

The steel, automobile, oil and communications industries are leading the way, Moffett said. The heavy spending is to be done in connection with the government's housing program.

The housing administration assured the United States Steel Corporation would devote $400,000,000 to replacement and modernization, while the amount expended in 1934, 70 MILLION FOR FORD.

The automobile industry, executive of Henry Ford, he added, would spend $200,000,000, and Air Ford himself $20,000,000.

Moffett announced that American Telephone & Telegraph had decided to appropriate $200,000,000 in repairs and betterments and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had set aside between $67,500,000 and $73,500,000.

In an address before an advertising club luncheon here, the housing administrator announced five million new houses are needed by the nation and 25,000,000 old ones must be renovated.

CITES NEW BUSINESS

He told the advertising men that the Federal Housing Administration already had created $140,000,000 in new business and that the home construction project would give industry $200,000,000 more.

In addition to putting thousands of workers in the building trades and industry back to work, and increasing the business of manufacturers and dealers in building supplies and home equipment, the program has resulted in millions of lines of advertising, which in turn has brought great increases of business for the advertisers, Moffett said.

NEWSPAPERS TRAIRED

Told by an advertising man, he said, that the housing administration was "a Godsend to the publications of the country," Moffett asserted:

"The publications are a Godsend to the housing administration."

"The newspapers, in their news and advertising pages, are giving us invaluable help in telling American industry and the public generally what we have to offer them."

"You advertising men are doing, and have done from the very outset, a swell job. This is true from our standpoint, and from the standpoint of the country's good."

As a result of advertising, Moffett said, one manufacturer reported he ran a 100-line advertisement in 21 key newspapers in 20 cities, and the results he got were from eight to 10 times what he had been getting prior to the housing campaign.

One manufacturer told Moffett the modernization program increased his September business, over September of 1933, by 300 per cent; another put his September increase at 400 per cent.

Crime Parley Racket Victim

By International News Service

Washington, Dec. 13.—Some hotel racketeers tried to "muscle" in on the National Crime Conference.

Attorney General Cummings had invited all delegates to the meeting to attend a reception he and Mrs. Cummings would hold tonight, only to learn that someone was trying to sell tickets to the gathering.

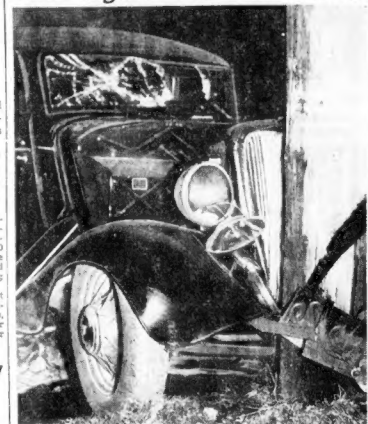

He told the delegates that no tickets were being sold for the reception and that they should be wary of anyone trying to collect money.

Sox-Braves Game Fund Distributed

The $14,440 profits from the charity baseball game staged by the Braves and Red Sox on August 31 last were distributed today by Mayor Manfred.

Of the sum, $4000 will go to the Veterans of America, $4000 to the city welfare department, $2000 to the soldiers' relief department, $2000 to the City Hospital, $200 to the City Hospital, $200 to the tuberculosis hospital at Mattapan, $200 to the institutions department and $500 to the penal institutions department.

Once Again—The Pole Wins

The pole is the winner, as usual—and the losers are dying in Natick hospital. The car skidded on Oak street, Natick, left the road and brought up where you see it now. In the hospital are the machine's two occupants, one of them a former Boston College football captain.

ONLY FRIENDS, FIVE RESCUED IN THEY INSIST LYNN BLAZE

Hollywood, Dec. 13.—Howard Hughes, millionaire Texas oil man and motion picture producer, has no intention of getting married, he said today.

Hughes, who for several years kept Hollywood guessing with his spectacular film production methods, has been seen frequently with Marian Marsh.

Both the actress and the producer denied marriage rumors. They insisted they are "just good friends."

Five persons, members of one family, three of them children, were rescued by firemen today at 40 Johnson street, Lynn.

Those rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bourgeois and their children, Bernice, 10; Norman, 12 and Leo, 8.

The fire originated in the attic of the two-and-a-half story structure. Fire officials hinted the blaze had been set. Damage was about $2000.

Medical Value of Dope Denied By Physician

By CHARLES N. WHEELER

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Dr. Francis W. McNamara, for 20 years head physician at the Cook County Jail, declared today that habit-forming narcotics are not necessary in the practice of medicine.

During his practice in Cook county medical institutions, approximately 180,000 patients, Dr. McNamara said, passed through his hands, but not a one has been treated with the stupor sedation that more morphine would help him, and we have lost not one addict case in our treatment.

"The fact is that the indiscriminate use of narcotics is the lazy doctor's method. It is a poor excuse for the ravages of opium carelessly prescribed. We have had thousands of patients, cases, but not a one has been treated with the stupor sedation that more morphine would help him, and we have lost not one addict case in our treatment."

B. C. BASE BALL STAR DYING IN NATICK CRASH

Two young men, one a former Boston College baseball captain, are dying in Leonard Morse hospital, Natick, of injuries suffered early today when their auto skidded on Oak street, Natick, and crashed into a telephone pole.

Hubert Keany, 25, of Charlestown, Framingham, was driving the car. He had not remained consciousness at 7 o'clock this morning.

Charles Kittredge, 23, of Waverly street, Framingham, captain and first baseman of the 1933 Boston College baseball team, was the other passenger in the car.

Charles Kittredge has a broken jaw, a cracked rib, a broken arm, a skull and several broken ribs. He is in critical condition.

The physician declared that more morphine retards the eventual recovery in desperate surgical cases.

Dr. McNamara said that during the last 12,000 cases, he never gave morphine to any patient who had been injured in a collision with a telephone pole.

"We have found it tucked away in the wadding of the coat shruders. Some sort lead pencils from which the lead had been removed and the space packed with morphine."

Boy Reads Minds! A Wizard at 6

He Shows How Newsmen Gasp As He Bares Their Lives

New York, Dec. 13.—To look at he's just the usual, happy-go-lucky boy. A mop of curly hair, a pink, chubby face. An overwhelming desire to jump over things, stand on his head and take alarm clocks apart.

But Jackie Merkle, aged 6, is more than the average boy. He is one of the most amazing mind readers, "mental marvels," or whatever word you choose, who has ever visited skeptical New York.

Jackie reads minds—no one who has witnessed his work can doubt that. He slips up now and then, of course, when reading directly the mind of his "subject."

But he rarely slips up when the "subject" thought is first given to Jackie's papa, Jacques Merkle, former circus acrobat.

Too Much Truth

"Of course there's a code," said the skeptics when Jackie and papa were given a test here. But the skeptics were convinced, often to their embarrassment, for Jackie has a way of blurring out the simple truth when a "subject" would much prefer a little white lie. The reporter who tested Jackie doesn't believe in anything. He was going to catch Jackie, all right, all right.

So he asked, without previously mentioning the answer to Jackie's father.

"Did I ever have an accident?" "You were wounded in the World War at St. Paul," Jackie said promptly.

That took the fight right from under the reporter, but he made another attempt.

"I shall I marry soon?" "No," said Jackie. "You're married and you've got a wife."

Whereupon the reporter, who is and has admitted defeat. From reporter Jackie skipped to a managing editor, and wasn't a bit overawed. He told the editor his name, told him he had visited Germany last summer, even named the towns and, what is more, pronounced them correctly, although he probably never heard of them before.

Jackie pulled his biggest demonstration when he showed reporters who have been trying vainly for days—how to crash the gate at the home of another wonder boy, Arthur Greenwood, child Einstein prodigy in Brooklyn.

When Jackie expressed a desire to meet Arthur and was told that reporters for days had been vainly trying to interview the gifted Greenwood boy, he said:

"I'll show you."

At the Greenwood home he marched up with police and rang the doorbell. To the nurse, who shook her head from a window he called:

"Hello, Anita. It's Jackie. Let me in."

Flabbergasted, the nurse opened the door a crack. She said, cautiously:

"You don't know me."

"Oh, yes I do," Jackie answered. "You're Anna Phillips. You came from Baltimore. Your parents came from Warsaw, Poland."

Then Jackie walked past the amazed woman.

That was her sole mention of the matter. It was believed she was referring to the ambitious public enterprises projects worked out by Federal Emergency Relief administrator Hopkins and his chief assistant, Colonel Lawrence Westbrook.

Divorced, Re-Wed After 8 Years Apart Love Wins Again

Man and wife for 10 years, divorced neighbors for eight more years, William Daniel Harding, of 866 Broadway, Everett, and Mrs. Marie Harding, of 866 Broadway, were remarried today.

The ceremony was performed in the Swedish Evangelical Church of Malden by its pastor, the Rev. A. Ragnar Lindblad. Robert Harding, a brother of the two-time bridegroom, and Miss Harriet Burns, of Everett, attended.

'Dream House' of Colleen Moore Fairy Castle Is Completed

By International News Service

Hollywood, Dec. 13.—A childhood dream today came true in the Hollywood mansion of a motion picture star.

Colleen Moore announced the completion of the most wonderful doll house in the world, a doll house that it has taken many world-famous artists nine years to create.

A fairy castle to thrill the heart of every child, the doll house is nine feet square, two stories high and contains twenty rooms. It gleams with mother-of-pearl, beaten gold and silver, carved ivory and bronze.

All the marvels of modern science are tributed to its magic: electric lights, a radio and cathedral organ that plays a feathered lightgale.

Colleen Moore, as on a cellophane tree and sings: a tiny electric refrigerator was made at Tiffany's in New York. A crystal chandelier is a copy of one hanging in the Versailles palace and has real electric light glass no larger than grains of wheat.

The more than 3000 exquisite objects which furnish the house have been gathered in all parts of the world. The library of miniature volumes is valued at many thousands of dollars and includes the smallest Bible and dictionary in the world. Autographed volumes include the names of Noel Coward, Elmer Gily, Louis Bromfield and Gene Fowler. The guest book has been signed by Queen Marie of Rumania and Crown Prince Gustav of Sweden.

The walls are decorated with murals by famous artists illustrating fairy tale legends. James Montgomery Flagg made a copy of a well-known Valparaiso Arthur William Brown painted the story of Goldilocks.

George McManus has done a mural of Old King Cole showing Jigs as King Cole, Maggie as his queen and Linty Moore and his cronies as the fiddlers three. Will Pogany did many of the paintings, and Leon Gordon did a portrait of Miss Moore in the guise of a fairy.

Asleep 24 Years, Awakes

WOMAN FELL IN TRANCE WHEN SUITOR DIED

Johannesburg, South Africa, Dec. 13.—Anna Swanepoll, 44-year-old spinster, awoke here from the cataleptic trance into which she fell 24 years ago from the shock of learning of the death of the man she loved.

During the 24 years between 1910 and 1934, Miss Swanepoll slept from youth to middle age. She was unimpaired of the World War. For a moment, in 1921, she became semi-conscious, but she did not speak.

Today she regained full consciousness in a Johannesburg sanatorium. Her memories were of the world she left in 1910. The loss of her fiancé was still a poignant sorrow. Physicians, fearing she will relapse in unconsciousness, are making desperate efforts to inspire her with a desire to live.

Deathlike sleep fell over Miss Swanepoll in 1910 when she learned that her fiancé, a young Lichtenburg farmer, had been killed in a hunting accident.

Malaria Hits 60,000

Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 13 (AP)—Between 60,000 and 70,000 persons are being treated here after the worst outbreak of malaria in 20 years.

"You don't know me."

"Oh, yes I do," Jackie answered. "You're Anna Phillips. You came from Baltimore. Your parents came from Warsaw, Poland."

Then Jackie walked past the amazed woman.

12 DAYS WED ENOUGH FOR JUNE KNIGHT

By Universal Service
Hollywood, Dec. 13.—Unsurpassed by it was disclosed here that June Knight, film and musical comedy actress, and her husband of 12 days, Paul Ames, Chicago and Beverly Hills socialite, have separated.

The actress' attorney issued a brief statement, saying:

"Miss Knight and Mr. Ames have separated and she has returned to the home of her parents. Whether the separation is permanent and, if so, what steps will be taken, have not yet been determined."

The actress, whose name before her marriage frequently was linked romantically with that of Max Baer, heavyweight champion, declined to elaborate on the cryptic statement, she said.

"I have played the matter entirely in the hands of my attorney. I am sorry but there is nothing I can say. We separated but a few days ago."

The actress and Ames, who today was reported "somewhere in California," were wed in Chicago Nov. 30, after Miss Knight had hurried there by plane at Ames' urgent entreaty to "fly to Chicago and marry me."

Ames, former member of the New York Stock Exchange, is a brother of Stephen Ames, husband of Raquel Torres.

Gambling Revival Is Seen in New York

New York—once the most flagrant violator of gambling ordinances—has been "cleaned up" but the big money is beginning to find its way back into illicit gambling games, along with the small policy and numbers rackets in which the "taks" from the workmen are mounting daily.

By LOU WEDEMAR
Copyright, 1934, by United Service

New York, Dec. 13—Nobody familiar with conditions in New York city today would call it a "wide open" town.

A "reform" police commissioner, Lewis J. Valentine, is pressing the most active war against gamblers and other racketeers that the city has ever known.

But the revival of "gambling spirit" here is equally obvious. The "policy racket" is employing more agents than ever before, despite the arrest of "Dutch" Schultz, reputed head of the racket.

SWEETS POPULAR
Youths with books of tickets on the Irish sweepstakes, to be run in March, offer them at $2.50 each in almost every restaurant, soda fountain, saloon or other public place, and find plenty of purchasers.

Pake tickets sell almost as well to a public suddenly anxious to get rich quick, but not knowing they are suckers in a phony sweep.

Fashionable gambling rooms, too, are beginning to reopen in the vicinity of Park avenue, at one such place, with a clientele limited to a carefully-selected list, wealthy men risk as much as $100,000 in a single evening's play at roulette where about 100,000 workers risk a dollar each on a "policy" number.

WORK HOTELS, LINDERS
Every big hotel has detectives constantly on the lookout for one sharp, who has reappeared in large numbers recently and not to make only the carter's trade.

And the ocean liners are beginning to be a flourishing business "bridge sharks"—so much so that scarcely a liner arrives without some passengers wondering just how their opponents always held on many major terminals.

To find the biggest gambling places it is only necessary to go to the outskirts of the city to

AUTOIST KILLED DURING CHASE

New Bedford, Dec. 13—Police pursuit of an allegedly stolen car for three miles at 70 miles an hour ended today when the machine plunged into a telegraph pole and buried the driver to his death.

The man was Henry Pina, 25, of South Front street. Nearly every bone in his body was broken. He died at St. Luke's Hospital shortly after his arrival.

A dozen shots were fired during the chase, but Pina would not halt. The stolen machine is said to have been the property of Everett J. Floyd of Boston street.

Floyd rode in his car was taken from in front of a Pleasant street house and shortly afterwards the machine was sighted and chase began in the West End.

Strike Worker Hangs Self

Southwicks, Dec. 13—The body of Michael Kasmelowski, 33, one of the workers of the Hamilton Mills, who refused to strike, was found hanging in the attic of his home today.

His son, Sigmund, 21, also employed at the mill, told police his father had been dejected since the announcement that the mills would probably close because of the strike.

He awoke this morning and ate his breakfast, bemoaning that he had not slept all night because of worry over his work. A few minutes later he went upstairs to the attic.

The son found his father hanging by a noose that had been fashioned from a clothes line.

Woman Burned to Death
Cridfield, Md., Dec. 13 (AP)—A woman was burned to death, asleep when fire swept through her home. Mrs. Margaret Lamm, 40, was burned to death.

'Empress' Starved to Death

Baroness Eloise Wagner de Bousquet, "Empress of the Galapagos Islands," and her last companion, Robert Phillipson, died of hunger while voyaging near Flores Island, according to a dispatch from Guayaquil. Their deaths ring down the curtain on the barbaric drama of the Galapagos isles, where two bodies found on the shores of Marchena Island were identified as those of Rudolf Lorenz and Tryg Nagerud, who also at one time vied for his favor. SUSPECT PAIR HELD IN $70,000

Alfred R. Benoit of Somerville and Nicholas DiStasio of Medford, the latter arrested early today after a battle with South End police, were arraigned in Somerville court today as the alleged robbers of taxicab drivers and gasoline stations in Greater Boston the past six weeks.

The pair pleaded not guilty. Judge Malcolm E. Sturtevant set bail at $40,000 for the former and $30,000 for Di Stasio.

At the arraignment of the pair, Inspector Allen S. Burns of Somerville declared that both, in a confession, admitted that "we did all the jobs except the Waterbury job."

Police quoted Di Stasio as saying: "I thought I was a smart guy, but the law caught up with me all right."

Argentine Leader Gets Papal Order

Vatican City, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pope Pius awarded the highest papal order the Supreme Order of Christ to President Augustin Justo of Argentina today.

The order, usually conferred only on sovereigns and heads of states, was conferred on President Justo in recognition of Argentina's support of the Ruchian Congress at Buenos Aires.

Nazis May Cut Lutheran Funds

Trier, Germany, Dec. 13 (AP)—Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels today threatened to withdraw all state financial support from Reich churches, including the Evangelical Lutheran, and maintain only 25 churches, to be run by the government.

LANSING HOTEL DEATH TOLL SET AT 59

By International-News Service
Lansing, Mich., Dec. 13.—With 20 bodies recovered, and 18 other persons known to be missing the death toll of the Keweenaw hotel fire was officially estimated today at 59.

The estimate was made by Coroner Ray Garsline, while crews of firemen and FWA workers continued their gruesome search of the ruins, and a deep sea diver sought the bodies of additional victims who jumped from rear windows of the hotel in a certain, but exact death in icy Grand river.

Coroner Garsline said he believed many of the victims' bodies were cremated and no trace of them will ever be found.

"It is probable that 59 or more shall know exactly how many lives were lost," he said.

He based his estimate of 59 on evidence indicating that 230 persons were in the hotel when the flames began their attack. The injured and rescued today accounted for 171, and 20 bodies had been recovered. That would indicate 59 more bodies remained in the ruins or in the river.

ALLEN ASSAILS SELLING GUNS TO CRIMINALS

By JACK LAFF

Washington, Dec. 13.—J. Weston Allen, President, 1934, of the National Rifle Association, is acting to cut the profits out of the gun trade by selling guns to criminals. To a large extent, the similarity is far closer than the rhetorical war from without and war from within. The munitions maker is one of the most flagrant offenders behind the extraordinary crime of this which is climaxed in the attorney general's conference here to help the nation meet its emergency.

On earth is there a lax and lackadaisical attitude toward the acquisition and possession of firearms as exist in the states of our union. There is practically no federal restriction on the sale of firearms across state boundaries is not a crime and the territory under direct federal control is infinitesimal.

Time and again, legislation has been initiated in Congress toward tightening up the control over firearms, especially small arms, which can be easily concealed. Every time the movement, backed by authoritative sociological, legislative and criminological experts, has been started it has been killed.

Every such overture saw Washington flooded by a horde of lobbyists, "contact men," and open propaganda representing the arms and ammunition manufacturers—and, it may surprise you to know, the organized sportsmen of America.

OPPOSED REGULATIONS
The degree of sincerity of the private munitions makers' plea that their legitimate business is not disturbed is exposed by the fact that they have stubbornly and openly opposed regulations which would still permit any and every citizen who can give a respectable account of himself to buy and own a revolver.

Every automatic, revolver, machine-gun and sawed-off shotgun in the land could be made to account for itself, the crime situation would be half solved overnight. In England, the police can pay their hands on 90 per cent of the privately held weapons in the British Isles in an hour.

DEATH RATE DROPS
In New York state, generally thought a notoriously wicked province, there is the most stringent and drastic arms-control law in the land.

Former Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of Massachusetts made one of the most important talks heard by the conference flaying the mercenary activities of the munitions corporations against every effort to keep deadly weapons out of the hands of criminals, and his speech will be read before Congress at its next session in another attempt to buy firearms from the multi and from unbridled international transportation either by dealers or individuals.

Fr. Charles Arnold Dies in Jamaica
The sudden death in Jamaica, R. W. J. of Rev. Charles J. Arnold, S.J., former pastor of St. Bernard's Church, North End, was revealed here today in a cable despatches.

Fr. Arnold was transferred a year ago last summer to become Superior in charge of the Jesuit mission in Jamaica. Interment will be in the Jesuit cemetery there.

DOWN TO BUSINESS AT CRIME CLINIC Plain Men, Plain Words

PRACTICAL PLANS TO CONTROL GANGSTERS TAKE FORM

By WINIFRED BLACK
Washington, Dec. 13.—This is the fourth day of the crime clinic and it's beginning to look as if the delegates were going to get down to real substantial work at last.

The professors and the students of the psychology of crime have slipped into the background and plain men of plain affairs are beginning to talk plain English about the gangsters and the kidnapers and the murderers and it looks as if something will come of the conference after all.

We haven't heard a word about psychology of the basic causes of crime for several hours. Nobody has explained the phrase "conduct disorders" for a whole day and we're beginning to get out of the fog of the upward and onward brethren and it is as if somebody had opened a good big window somewhere in the meeting hall and let in a strong wind straight from the clean, invigorating sea.

Fulton Oursler, the editor of a well known weekly magazine, yesterday started the ball of common sense and real honest to goodness determination to rolling.

"Gangsters and kidnapers and gunmen are Winifred Black, mad dogs," said Mr. Oursler. "I don't know what made them go mad and I don't care."

"What I want to do is to get rid of them and get rid of them quick."

Like Electric Shock
The whole stupified herd assembled at up as if there had been a general electric shock—why, were we going to stop this, especially small arms, which can be easily concealed.

Mr. Oursler spoke his mind about hero worship of gangsters and anyone who could read and write could tell what he meant when he spoke.

A man from Minnesota rose from the body of the house and told a story about a picture he saw in a theater in his part of the world. "It was a picture of Dillinger's father," said the man, "and the father was saying that Dillinger wasn't really a bad boy at heart at all."

"When I spoke to the manager of the theater about that picture he said, 'Oh well, we're just running it to help raise money to give Dillinger decent funeral.'"

The man who was telling this story for an instant as if to gather strength to control his shaking voice.

"Two known better men than Dillinger to lie in a pauper's grave," said the man.

And there was something in his voice which called up someone's picture of a lonesome little boy standing on the wind swept prairie at the lonely grave of a decent man who was not a celebrated gangster like Dillinger.

Time for Truth
The whole conference felt the rush of a sudden gust of honest indignation and things began to look a little dangerous for gangsters and those who love to shut the door of sympathy for them and their gunmen.

Everyone in the hall began to feel that the whole country had been in a kind of nightmare of bewildered terror long enough, and that it was about time somebody rose somewhere and spoke the plain truth about the outrageous crime.

And from that moment on things began to move.

Practical plans for controlling the gangster and his machine gun were to take form.

Somebody actually proposed that we sweep away the whole network of petty state laws and let the officer who was after a man in a killing leap on after him if he went to Michigan and even follow him from Michigan to Florida and bring him back for a honest trial by honest men.

It was incredible that such a plain common sense idea has never been proposed before, but it hasn't.

A gangster could kidnap a helpless child in Illinois, step over into Indiana and laugh at the local officers of the law who were trying to bring him to justice.

If this conference does nothing, it is a crime.

Bay State Delegates Urge Crime Cures
Washington, Dec. 13.—Three Massachusetts delegates to the National Crime Conference and their recommendations for warring ruthlessly against criminals occupied attention of most of the 400 other delegates here today.

Other delegates here today, Mr. Allen and his anti-crime platform was the lion's share of the applause.

United States Marshal John J. Murphy, former Somerville, Mass. mayor, and Assistant Attorney-General Joseph L. Raftery were the other Bay State speakers.

Square-jawed Attorney Allen went on record as favoring execution of "vicious" criminals.

Marshal Murphy proposed creation of a national crime prevention bureau with affiliated branches in every state.

Mr. Raftery recommended establishing parent-teacher associations and other clubs to campaign against improper motion pictures and to fight against exposing children to criminal environment.

Former Attorney-General Allen would provide extra heavy penal sentences for criminal gangsters.

He would have convicted Allen and sentenced him to prison for a term of years, or more. He declared: "The contrast between the law enforcement officers of the United States and the underworld has become a dual to the

2 BAD MONEY GIRLS SOUGHT

Two girl confederates of a band of counterfeiters were being sought by Roxbury police today, after they were involved in an attempt to pass a spurious five dollar bill to a storekeeper.

Fred Krane, owner of a market on Yeoman street, reported that the two girls purchased some provisions and tendered the bill in payment. When Krane refused to honor it they fled.

It may be said reverently and accurately, however, that some little country girl, clear-eyed, with innocent face, dressed in white cotton with a blue sash around her waist, might, in the estimation of ninety-nine men out of a hundred, look "better dressed" than all the official "best dressed" put together.

It is not so much the dress as what is in it that counts.

United States Justice Hutchenson of the Fifth United States Circuit Court of Appeals, says the American penal system of punishing crime and correcting criminals is "purposeless, haphazard, cruel and disgraceful."

Mrs. Louise Van Allen Midway, of Newport, and the Baroness Eugene De Rothschild of Paris. The wife of the Begum Aga Khan, called a "descendant of Mohammed" is number five.

The twelve selected by Paris dressmakers spend $50,000 a year each to keep "best dressed." Paris dressmakers probably select the twelve ladies what the French back driver in ancient days said of James Gordon Bennett, "such a gentleman could never die."

Walker Pessimistic
Stanley Walker, a well-known newspaper man from New York, said that he was fascinated by the material of the crime conference, but as to reform—he was very pessimistic.

Well, Mr. Walker, I too am fascinated by the material of the conference, but I am not pessimistic about the outcome of this war upon the crooks and the gangsters. We're going to stop pictures of theorists and get down to plain American common sense.

The people of this country have worked up—let's say—Grandin and Uncle Robert and Brother Jim are setting their jaws and anybody, anyone, anyone, anyone and we do want to hear something about honest men and decent women.

We've tried of gangsters, we're sick of crime, we don't want to hear any more about thieves and gunmen and we do want to hear something about honest men and decent women.

And he heard the old stories about snakes that can charm a bird—the gangster has lost its charm and we Americans are now going to stop theorizing and mooning about the sermons of someone who can't help it if his glands are so much out of order that he's just got to murder someone or kidnap some helpless child or torture some delicate woman in order to live in any kind of comfort himself.

Pioneer Spirit
Our glanis are beginning to trouble us too.

And the day of the gangster is going to be over if every decent man of courage in this country has practice marksmanship and learns to defend himself and his family.

Three-thumbed Jack and three-gun Charlie never had half the courage and half the stamina of a good old fashioned American pioneer.

And from what I saw and heard at that crime clinic I believe the old pioneer spirit is coming back.

And when it does well make the crime of the gangster like a strange and half forgotten dream.

Crooked lawyers, cowardly judges, sentimental sap alaters, political buffoons—let's wrap them all up of the way, once and for all, and get back to clean American common sense and good American grit and make this country safe for decent people once again.

If you had been at that conference when the real men of real affairs began talking you would have realized that day is beginning to break at last.

MISSING BOYS WORRY QUINCY

Boys between 14 and 21 years of age give the Quincy police missing persons bureau the most work, according to the annual report issued to-day, which showed 63 persons reported missing during this year.

Of the 47 males and 16 females listed in the files, only one has not been found, a man about 40 years old. About half of the males reported missing were between 14 and 21 years of age.

Nearly half of the 16 missing girls were between 15 and 21 years of age.

Two Monkey Serums Prevent Paralysis

(Copyright, 1954, by Universal Service)
Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—Two apparently successful vaccines against infantile paralysis, one of them now available in quantities that would permit physicians to combat an epidemic, have been developed by experts studying the dread disease.

Experiments made both in New York and Philadelphia, where the vaccine sera were announced within a few days of each other, have proved that the vaccines, both obtained from monkeys, can prevent infantile paralysis.

One was developed by Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of medicine at Temple University here. The other was developed by Dr. William H. Park, director of the New York

19 HELD AFTER MALDEN RAIDS

The intensive drive against all forms of gambling in Malden continued today with 19 men scheduled to appear in district court after two raids in different sections of the city.

In a Salem street periodical store, police arrested three men and seized a quantity of number pool slips. A similar seizure was made in a delicatessen on Cross street. Here 16 men were arrested.

JAPAN DELAYS END OF NAVY CONFERENCE

By International News Service.
London, Dec. 13.—America's delegation to the London Naval conference will march out almost on the very day that Washington receives Japan's notification of abrogation of the 5-5-3 ratio treaty.

This was made a practical certainty today following a conference between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Britain and Norman

H. Davis, America's unattached ambassador.

Definite Japanese instruction including information that denuciation would take place next week, probably December 20, we received this afternoon.

It was understood that the Japanese would inform the British and Americans that they were willing to postpone further conversation if the others so desired, but that they wanted a definite date set.

BRUNO'S ALIBI MAY DEFEAT STATE CASE

This is the fourth of a series of 12 articles dealing with Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial on the charge of murdering the Lindbergh baby.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Copyright, 1934, by International News Service
Flemington, N. J., Dec. 12.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann says he was at home in the Bronx, New York City—43 miles from the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell, N. J.—on the night of March 1, 1932, when the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped. If this alibi is true, obviously he could not have abducted the infant. But is it? Was he at home in New York that night?

The state of New Jersey says "No."
Attorney-General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey plans to knock the Hauptmann alibi better seller when the 35-year-old carpenter and ex-burglar is brought to trial here on January 2 next on the charge of murder.

STATE IS INSISTENT
Wilentz insists Hauptmann was in New Jersey the night of the crime—that, in fact, it is the man who climbed the ladder, seized the child from his crib and subsequently murdered him.
So far in this unusual case it has been definitely proved that Hauptmann had in his possession $14,500 of the $20,000 Lindbergh ransom money.

Nearly everybody is convinced Hauptmann is guilty of extortion in view of the highly incriminating manner in which he is involved in the ransom money. But many ask: "Is he the active kidnaper?"

BRUNO UNHARMED
The writer, who covered the Hauptmann extradition proceedings in New York, recalls how emphatically Hauptmann denied from the witness stand that he kidnapped the baby.

Wilentz was subjecting Hauptmann to a harsh cross-examination. Finally the attorney general walked to a few feet from the witness chair and leveled an accusing finger at the stolid, pale-eyed German.

"Didn't you build the ladder that was put up against the Lindbergh house and didn't you go up that ladder into that room and murder that child?" demanded Wilentz.

Silence fell across Justice Ernest P. J. Stamper's courtroom in the Bronx.

Hauptmann, his face ashen, leaned forward. He gripped the arms of his chair. His eyes, set deep in their sockets, blazed.

"No!" he cried, in a voice that sounded across the courtroom.

Hauptmann's "alibi" that he was in New York on the fateful night the baby was abducted was backed up by his wife and two friends, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Frederickson. Frederickson owned a restaurant in the Bronx, where Mr. Hauptmann, the prisoner's wife, was employed in 1932.

2 CORROBORATE ALIBI
Hauptmann swore that on the night of March 1, 1932, he had supper at the bakery-restaurant of the Fredericksons where his wife was working as a waitress, and then accompanied her to their home at 1279 East 22d street in the Bronx.

He said he left the restaurant (and the two Fredericksons corroborated him) about 9 to 9:30 p. m. The baby was kidnapped between 8:30 and 10 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauptmann and Mr. and Mrs. Frederickson were certain that Hauptmann was in the Frederickson restaurant on the night of March 1, 1932, because it was a Tuesday night.

It was this fact that March 1 was Tuesday, rather than anything else, that made them certain. They could not remember, however, the particular Tuesday that was March 1, 1932.

New Jersey's seemingly most difficult task will be to prove that Hauptmann was the man who kidnapped the baby; to prove that he was at the scene of the crime.

The nearest the Jersey authorities have come to proving that was up to date was through the testimony of Millard White, a bank employee in New Jersey. He said that on two occasions before the kidnapping he had seen Hauptmann within a few miles of the Lindbergh home. Those occasions, he said, were on February 18, 1932, and February 27, 1932.

Tomorrow, Mr. Kilgallen will discuss Hauptmann's penmanship and the handwriting on the ransom notes.

Cook Gains 9 Votes in Recount Fight

Figures in the recount in Winthrop in the secretary of state fight revealed today that Dr. Joseph Santonuzzo of Boston, defeated Democratic candidate for that office, lost 10 votes, while Frederic W. Cook, who was re-elected, gained nine.

The original figures gave Cook 4928. Santonuzzo 2742. The recount figures show that Cook received 4901, with 7726 for Santonuzzo.

BOSTON THEATER BOMBERS SOUGHT BY N. Y. SLEUTHS

Aid of the New York police bomb squad was enlisted today by Captain Stephen J. Flaherty, head of the Boston Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation, in tracking down a gang of hired bombers believed responsible for the theater explosions yesterday in Boston, Lynn and Pawtucket, R. I.

Captain Flaherty attended the police lineup at New York headquarters and after a conference with Lieutenant Charles Newman, head of the bomb squad, said:

"We don't know whether it's labor trouble back of it all or an attempt of racketeers to muscle in in some way."

"The New York bomb squad is famous for its files and its listing of radicals and members of all kinds, and we decided to come here for help in our present situation."

Bombers can be hired at $250 an explosion, according to his information.

Meanwhile, State Fire Inspector Everett W. Shumway and Fire Chief John C. McNally, of Somerville, continued their investigation of yesterday's fire in R. M. Loew's Davis Square theater in Day street, Somerville. There is a possibility, they indicated, that this blast may not have been caused by defective wiring as was first believed.

Police officials ordered heavy guards over all theaters operated by E. M. Loew and Fred C. Leib-

Big Alky Haul on Beach at Salisbury

Salisbury Beach, Dec. 13.—In the biggest haul from the sea here since 1921, 61 cases of alcohol were seized by police and coast guardsmen today while dozens of more were sighted about a mile from shore.

Authorities believe that a repeal runer probably grounded on the way to a landing point and threw the cases overboard.

The first case was found by a bird hunter, who was seen at the same time by Patrolman James Pike and Special Officer Arthur Flinders. They hauled several more cases ashore while Police Chief Harold F. Coughlin, notified coast guardsmen of the find.

The catch landed in at the Black Rock section of the beach. Not far from there police found a broken ear and an overcoat with a flashlight in one of the pockets.

Officials estimated that about 100 more cases were afloat in the sea. Coast guardsmen set out in small boats to recover them.

4 Saved in $150,000 Fire
Englewood, C. J., Dec. 13 (AP).—Four persons were carried to safety down ice-covered ladders when a $150,000 fire destroyed a large store and office building and threatened, for almost an hour, to spread to other structures in the heart of the city's business district.

NEYHART LOOMS FOR RACE POST

Adrian Neyhart, Framingham gentleman farmer and reputed wealthy horseman, will be named executive secretary of the state racing commission, according to reports around the State House today.

The same reports declared that Lawrence Brennan of Medway, former sporting goods dealer, would be made assistant secretary.

Salaries for the posts must be fixed by the governor and executive council, but there has been no hint yet as to what the salaries will be.

Neyhart was formerly a member of the state commission of the necessities of life, when Eugene C. Huttman, now Boston police commissioner, was chairman of the board, and former Mayor Charles H. Adams of Melrose was an associate commissioner.

Application for a dog track license in Hampden County was received today by the racing commission from Sidney J. Harris, commander of Springfield Post, American Club, in 1932.

Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook received today an application for a charter from the Essex County Racing Association of Lynn. The incorporators are given as Edward W. Hall, Louis E. Doucette and Robert G. Doucette, all of 28 Exchange street, Lynn.

Holyoke Couple Slain by Chinese Bandits

ment took it for granted the American legation at Nanking already had made strong representations to the Chinese government for apprehension of the bandits.

Later, confirmation of the findings of the murdered bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Stam was received at the State Department from American Consul Willys R. Peck at Nanking.

Peck reported the head of the band Chinese mission at Wuhu had notified him that the governor of Anhui Province had announced that the body of John and Betty Stam had been found but that their three-month-old baby still was missing.

Following the murder by Chinese bandits of the Rev. Dr. James H. Ingram, another American missionary, last May, the Chinese government quickly apprehended the bandits responsible and executed them. Phillips expressed the hope that the government would act as speedily in this case.

Slain Girl Frequent Visitor to Holyoke
Holyoke, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Betty Root, 27, who with her husband, John C. Stam, has been killed by Chinese bandits, was well known socially in this city, her father, Dr. C. E. Scott, is missionary representative of the Second Congregational Church of this city in the China missionary field and with his wife is now in that field.

The Scotts have frequently visited here, where Mrs. Scott's brother, Francis Heywood of Amherst street, is in business. Mrs. Stam attended high school in Springfield and afterward Wilson College, Pennsylvania, and the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

While at the latter school, she met Mr. Stam, a native of Paterson, N. J., who followed her to China three years ago. They were married in Shanghai in October, 1931, and their child was born Sept. 11 of this year.

By Associated Press
The United States legation, informed of the outrage, immediately lodged a strong protest with the Nanking government.

Previous representations had been made, and every effort had been launched by government officials to locate victims before they were harmed.

Grave fears were felt for the safety of the infant, as it appeared incredible the bandits would slay its parents and take the baby away unharmed. Finding of the two bodies accelerated search for the child.

So far as could be learned, no demand for ransom had been received by associate of the slain couple.

Liu Cheng Hwa, governor of Anhui Province, said the Stams were slain on a battlefield 15 miles from Tientsin.

"They were abducted December 7 when the bandits looted Tientsin, pillaging business houses and mission homes and kidnapping several Chinese."

Disasters at the Catholic station were spared because of their temporary absence from the post, the governor said.

Troops of the Chinese Nationalist Government have been passing through Tientsin for the past few days en route to southern Anhui Province to combat the roving outlaw troops.

U. S. Seeks Speedy Justice by China
By International News Service
Washington, Dec. 13.—The United States expects the Chinese government to take immediate steps to apprehend and execute the bandits responsible for the murder of the American couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stam, Acting Secretary of State William Phillips said today.

Phillips said the State Department took it for granted the American legation at Nanking already had made strong representations to the Chinese government for apprehension of the bandits.

$2 BILLS MEAN LUCK THROUGH BASKET FUND

Did you know that it may be better to carry around a $2 bill than your pocket?

That is if you have plenty of other money and you are in need of a few dollars. A $2 bill in your pocket is sure to prove bad luck.

This week the Boston Evening American would like to see you get rid of unlucky $2 bills and exchange them for $1 bills. You can do this by exchanging them at the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Fund.

Read them up in the Boston Evening American. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill.

Other things that you can do to help the Christmas Basket Fund. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill.

Read the letters that appear to day. Perhaps you will find them in some of the letters. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill. You can get a $2 bill for a $1 bill.

Don't forget that $2 bills get rid of them at once by bringing them to the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Editor, 21 Deane street.

Even Farmer Hostapple can't tell a good egg by its shell . . . neither can you judge A Good Lamp Bulb by its surface

ELMER HOSTAPPLE, twenty years a farmer, knows hens . . . but even Elmer can't tell a good egg by the shell alone.

Surface appearances are sometimes deceiving . . . bad eggs have a strong resemblance to good ones—on the outside. Similarly—cheap lamp bulbs often look as good to the naked eye as lamps of reliable quality.

How tell the difference? How can you be sure you're getting lamp bulbs of good quality? The answer is—look for the trademark of the manufacturer. If the name on the lamp is one you know, there is your guarantee of quality. Such lamps may cost a trifle more at first, but they cost less in the end—they give you all the light you pay for.

You can buy American-made lamps of guaranteed quality at all Edison Shops and at many reliable dealers

RKO'S BLACK AND WHITE REVUE WILL FEATURE NEW STAR ON SCREEN

Jeni Legon to Be the Florence Mills of Films; Austria Sends Dance Star

Jeni Legon, the new star of RKO, is shown in a scene from her first film, "The Sign of the Cross".

Los Angeles, Dec. 13.—The stage has its Florence Mills, colored musical comedy favorite, but so far the screen has never had a colored actress who sings and dances. Floxie Milam is the Columbus in that respect, having signed Jeni Legon for a black and white revue he will make for RKO. Miss Legon will play only in the one sequence with a colored cast. The white cast will be headed by Ann Sothern, Wynne Gibson, Fred Keating and Gene Raymond, who are the stars of the Young Revue.

"WIFE IN CUSTODY" By Beatrice Lubitz

CHAPTER XXIV

Early that morning, as Walter and Helen were preparing for bed, Helen tentatively reminded Walter of his suggestion that they use the farm as a summer home.

"Do you really mean you wouldn't mind living way out there in the sticks, Helen?"

"Not if you wouldn't mind the commuting."

"Mind! I'd love it. I'd be able to take the train!"

"We'll have a whole house to ourselves."

"We won't be alone all day."

"Not if you have your evening."

"He gathered her up in his arms. 'Boy, will we have fun!'"

"Well, be Dearly and Joan by the fire."

CLUTCHES AT IDEA

Walter clutched at the idea as at a straw. Not for the world would he admit even to himself that he longed to be out of earshot of his sisters for a few hours of his busy, hectic life. Not if Helen were to utter a word of complaint about them.

It was a triumph of fortitude, their endurance.

They were in a fever of joy over each step of the remodeling and furnishing.

"I'm afraid we're making nuisances of ourselves, Dick," Walter apologized, "but here it is, you do know so much that I'd like to know!"

"Nonsense, Walt, I've just picked up a bit of knocking around places. I'm only too glad to help. Helen is a pleasure to work with. She's so honest and thorough."

"The sure is," Walter declared fervently. "She's a peach!"

Every day Helen took the morning train out to Bound Brook to supervise the carpenter.

It was a long, rambling farmhouse built of native stone and shingles, but in an appalling state of neglect. It had attractive possibilities and the trees and foliage were magnificent, although neglected.

HAPHAZARD KITCHEN

When Walter and his mother had lived there, they hadn't bothered to do more than slap together a haphazard kitchen and furnish two of the bedrooms. The girls had been there once and couldn't get used to it. About Walter's desire to use it as a summer home, Helen said:

"I think it's a mistake, Walt. Irene said, 'to permit Helen to undertake all that expensive decoration, it's going to run into money. You're doing a big job there. I see you're letting Helen use the car. I don't think it's safe.'"

"She's a very careful driver," Helen shrugged. "You're reading as a regular rinky," she said.

"What's the matter, old girl?" Helen said. "You're old-fashioned for her. 'Something wrong'."

"If you only give her half a chance."

"You get out of here. You're a nut!"

"I'm not in the market for a nut on Helen. Money is so damn good, that I couldn't afford it any more."

Walter hesitated. "I don't mind giving you a temporary hand, old girl."

"What good will that do?" she shrugged. "But you've agreed to suggest."

"This branch doesn't warrant it. The girls will be wild if they find out," he reminded. "Call Helen Agnes everything and if I in any way make the others would raise hell!"

"I could use the money," she said. "But of course I know how things are."

"Look here, Irene, I'll tell you what, I'll give you fifty more a week out of my own pocket. I guess it's the only way so the girls won't get wind of it. Now what do you say?"

"Listen, Irene, I do want to see you happy. Do you want a vacation from the shop? Take a couple of months off. You look pretty ready, young thing!"

"Your salary will go on."

"Thanks, Walt, you are a darling. But that's only an escape, not a solution. Still, I think of it. How is your place looking out there in the woods?"

"Very nice, Irene. The carpenter and plumbers are here. Some of the furniture is in. It looks real nice."

"SLY LITTLE THING"

"Well, now that you've brought the matter up, Helen, I might as well tell you that it was exceedingly extravagant of you to have leased an apartment for two years and now to just close it up high and dry and go off to your farm. I told Helen so last Wednesday. The little hen! She's as bad as Agnes; just reads me!"

"Helen cried!" he was startled. "She never told me anything!"

"She's a sly little thing."

"I wish you'd let her alone, Irene. It's none of your business what she does."

"Oh, is that so?" she flared. "I don't like this high and mighty attitude of yours and don't think you're going to get away with it. We've leased this business and you don't forget it. If it weren't for me you'd be a sly little cat!"

"Please don't get excited, Irene. I have no intention of going high and low. I know you've done it all. Good Lord, Irene, all I've done is to use the farm a little to make it habitable and you think I'm bragging. I'm just off Helen. She's not let your private disappointments out on me and please don't let me hear any more of it. A wonderful girl, you know!"

"Why, what a surprise!" Walt waved his racket. "Hello, mama. Hello, everybody!"

"Oh, hello, mother. Did you have a hot dinner? You must be doing for a cold drink!"

Helen helped them out of the car. "You certainly have a lovely place," Eddie sighed. "I wouldn't have believed it!"

"Maybe Walt will build you one," Eddie suggested, shaking herself. "What? That was a hot drive. Let's go in. Walt has enough room here to build us a nice house. How about it, Walt?"

"REALLY LOVELY"

"My Lord, Walt, you must have spent a fortune," Agnes complained. "I wouldn't know the place."

"Do you like it?" Helen asked happily.

"You told me to do here!" Anastasia demanded. "Make two rooms into one!"

"Yes, mother, we threw out two partitions and made the hall, but I left the dining room and the kitchen. We made the kitchen into the dining room and built on a new fireplace."

"Humph," Anastasia grunted. "It will be hard to heat such a big room in winter."

"It's really lovely," Eddie inter-

STOCKS OF THE WEEK

FINISH

New York Dec. 13. With the exception of a few individual stocks, the market drifted lower today. Railroad shares are at a discount of the final hour, but the heavy trading in a number of stocks, notably Union Pacific, Southern Railway and Southern Railway, was rather active.

NEW HIGH

Radio preferred B, Monday's opening weak spot, recovered an other 2 points today, to come within a fraction of its previous high. It was a similar situation in the case of the Wilson Co. shares where the common and preferred rose over more than 2 points to new highs for the year.

Colony and Industrial Rayon rose easily on the news that rayon quotations had been advanced. General Motors was under pressure from the high share of a Half point while Chrysler, Nash and Auburn were off less than a point.

WATCH FOR TREND

Speculative forces were watching Washington for indications of the next major market trend, although statements were expected to do much to maintain confidence.

The opinions of brokerage commentators were also mixed. Various technical methods continued to hold their views, based largely on the belief that a number of stocks are selling at a price which is higher than the value of the line with point of view. It was felt in these quarters that future adjustments must be made before the market, as a whole, can resume its broad forward movement.

There are many analysts, at the same time, who feel that the market will find its equilibrium. All things considered, have been given a good account of themselves in the face of the market's gyrations, which, ordinarily, might have resulted in a further decline. It was pointed out that sudden and swift reactions have been characteristic of rising markets in the past.

Correction and overbought and overpriced situations, it was thought, will have a tendency to solidify the market. The more optimistic were unable to discern any undue weakness in the market's present position.

Some of the early activity in the merchandising shares was attributed to reports that the expansion of sales was showing no signs of tapering. The department of commerce announced that payments on open installment accounts of merchandise stores had increased in October than September or in October a year ago.

Horatius at Bridge--- COURAGE NO GREATER THAN YOUNG TEXAN'S, REYNOLDS SMITH

Ed Note—There have been moments of drama and tragedy, pathos and comedy in the fields of sports during the past year. Each day, sportswriters and their readers have been told of the perils of the game, the danger of the sport, the danger of the player. The actor who is in the spotlight is in the spotlight. The actor who is in the spotlight is in the spotlight.

By Bill Grimes

Among the uninitiated, there exists a distinct aversion toward any admission that courage is of vital, or even minor, importance to a successful player.

Moreover, they assert that it is a strange ilk that acquires any tinge of shivering sensations while viewing even the greatest exploits of the Royal and Ancient game in action.

In my opinion, Reynolds Smith, champion of the world, is a man of steel, frankly and frequently admits he is afraid almost of a hand of spades. When told that he is a coward, he says: "I am a coward, but I am a coward who is afraid of a hand of spades."

Smith's courage is not of the kind that is often found in the eyes of the world. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades.

Smith's courage is not of the kind that is often found in the eyes of the world. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades.

Smith's courage is not of the kind that is often found in the eyes of the world. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades. It is the courage of the man who is afraid of a hand of spades.

Down With One Put on Fire of Six Occasions

With the single exception of his fifth round match with Win Day, Jr., Smith won the 19th hole in every match, and on four occasions he was down to his opponents with only one hole to play.

During the five days he was in the championship at Brookline, he played the first hole no less than 13 times.

It was the testing home hole at the Country Club that brought him the reputation as a youngster of iron nerves. Try as he might, he could not get home in two at the 19th hole.

He was hunched in front of a green on every round, but whether the match was all over or he was one down, he never flinched.

He came out of the sand rationally, and, when the situation demanded as it did on five of the first six rounds, he got down in one put.

Now don't let anyone attempt to convince you that it does not require courage to sink putts as Reynolds Smith did at the Country Club. There's nothing in any branch of sport that calls for such courage as this.

There's a number of the Essex County Club who has a world-wide reputation as a champion hunter. Yet, with all of the close calls he has experienced in the African jungle, this man, with

Bonthon Comes Back for Another Shot at Cunningham

By Walter Kiley

Late last summer, Billy Bonthon walked down the gangplank of the Bremen and out into the street of New York. He was returning to United States after a successful tour of the Continent as a member of one of the two American track teams that visited foreign shores.

Bonthon, who has been skating for many years, is seen here in a recent performance. He is a member of the American track team that visited foreign shores.

Big League Scouts on Trail of Bruin Cubs Ace—Pat Hanley's B. U. Freshman Giants Working at Rink

By Bill Grimes

Realizing that his 15 goals in 24 games have attracted the attention of big league scouts, Frank Jerwa, the Cubs' leading candidate for Can-Am League individual honors, will be a treat to watch tonight at the Arena, against the New Haven Eagles.

As the Rhode Island Red, because of their victory over the Bruins in Quebec, are only three points away from the top of the league.

general manager of the Garden and Arena, stopped Colonel Hammond raving over amateur hockey in New York by taking a small bag of carrots to the rink. The carrots, he said, were for the Bruins. He said that he had never seen a better player than Jerwa. He said that he had never seen a better player than Jerwa.

Jerwa, who played hockey with Toronto Varsity, was a member of the Bruins team that won the championship of the United States in 1933. He was a member of the Bruins team that won the championship of the United States in 1933.

19-YR.-OLD STAR on Heights

IN SKATERS' FRINGE

By Bill Connell

Tiny Ruth Hancock, of Providence, eight-year-old young speed skater, has been entered in the 1934-35 season at the Boston Arena on Saturday night. Her two-lap exhibition race adds an unusual event to the colorful Frolic program.

The little girl has been hailed by skating experts as the most remarkable speed skater to appear in this country in many years. She has been skating, first on double runners and later on the conventional single blade skates, almost since she could walk.

Let Barbara Holmes Find You The Apartment, Home or Room That Pleases

Barbara Holmes receives requests every day from anxious home hunters for aid in the solution of their rental problems. Barbara Holmes will gladly help you too, when you present your problems to her.

Miss Barbara Holmes
I have just been transferred from Cambridge, Mass., to Boston. I am looking for a nice single house of six rooms in suburban Boston and at the same time, I have a car and a garage.

I will be in the Cambridge office Saturday, and I will appreciate very much your help in locating the type of house I want.

I would not object to a nice duplex, but unless I can find a house, I will be in a position to look at anything you have been anxious.

Your very truly,

War Against Crime

Action, Not Words, Realized as Final Answer to Nation's Problem

FEELINGS of profound satisfaction must have filled the breast of every good citizen who listened to President Roosevelt's address before the National Crime Conference at Washington, or who read his words in the newspapers. The President, as presided by his Attorney-General, Homer Cummings, who warned the five hundred delegates that "it is not intended that this Conference shall meet, discuss, adjourn and be forgotten, nor that its sole product shall be a group of pious resolutions."

"Let me impress upon you," Mr. Cummings said, "the magnitude and significance of the struggle in which we are engaged. It is amazing that such a situation as now exists is possible at this stage of our civilization."

Responding to this keynote, the President, in direct and forceful language, told the Conference what its continuing duty must be. He said:

"First, I ask you to plan and to construct with scientific care a constantly improving administrative structure—a structure which will tie together EVERY CRIME PREVENTING, LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY OF EVERY BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT—the Federal Government, the forty-eight State Governments, and all of the local governments."

"Your second task is of equal importance. . . It is your positive duty to keep before the country the facts in regard to crime as a whole—great crimes, lesser crimes and little crimes—to build up a body of public opinion."

HOWEVER, the best phase of the session was the manifest realization of both the President and the Attorney-General that ACTION, not words, must be the final answer to the American crime problem, and their evident determination that ACTION SHALL NOT WAIT.

The Attorney-General, in his speech, formulated his program:

1.—Interstate compacts, uniform laws and Federal and State enactments to increase the effectiveness of both State and Federal agencies, particularly at points of contact and possible co-ordination.

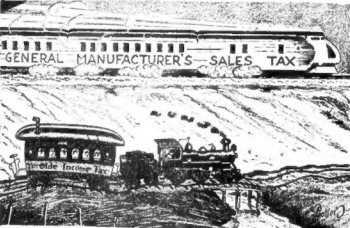

2.—Establishment of "a great scientific and educational center" in criminology—National Crime Research Center. These measures, in conjunction with an extensive Federal secret service and State constabularies of high morale, as advocated by the Hearst newspapers, will do the work.

For along with them must come unavoidably such reforms as non-political judiciary, a cleaned legal profession and better penal and parole systems than we have ever had.

Support for Sales Tax Wise Action Is Important

With immense Federal deficits, the country can no longer afford to be deflected from an economically sound tax program. In the past, progress toward scientific taxation has been thwarted by the middlebanded demagogues in Congress, who knew only that they wanted to "soak the thrifty."

The need for raising substantial revenues without discouraging business can of course best be met by inaugurating a general manufacturers' sales tax.

Representative Treadway, of Massachusetts, ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, has served notice that he will draft a general sales bill, unless the Democratic majority sponsors one.

Another Republican on the committee, Representative Crowther, of New York, has pledged support of such a move.

There are rumors that former opponents of the reform will come around if it is disguised under a different name.

The occasion is too serious for such frivolity.

The time has come to improve in the technique of taxation.

Nothing which will come before Congress at the next session will be more important than intelligent tax revision.

Urges Double Trials End Getting Justice Simply

District Attorney Warren L. Bishop of Middlesex County proposes a method of getting justice simply. And at the same time trimming governmental costs.

Mr. Bishop would eliminate double trials in misdemeanor cases.

Those charged with misdemeanors may now have one trial in the district court and later, on appeal, a second in the Superior Court.

Mr. Bishop favors having the accused make a choice between trial in the district court by a judge without a jury or before a judge and jury in the Superior Court.

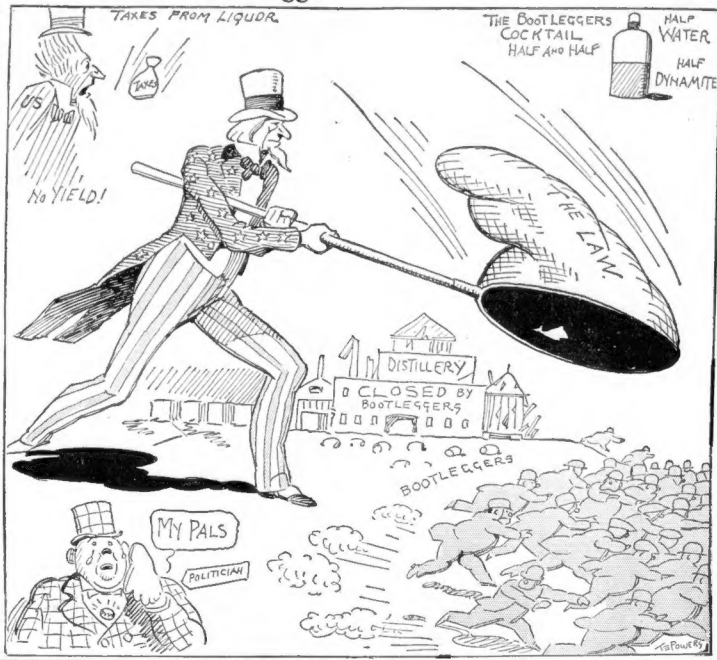

Proposing a saving of time and expense, this is a praiseworthy idea.

"Mrs. Blank's Husband" He Can Cheer Up

Poor Lord Astor! When he goes anywhere, he is introduced either as the husband of Lady Astor, or as the man whose horses finished second five times but never won the Derby. Husbands who feel themselves out of the running may perk up a bit when they think of Lady Astor's husband.

Attack on Crime American Style

By Edwin C. Hill

The automobile has been an aid to criminals and has hampered the police a new and difficult problem, as it makes possible the swift attack and get-away. But when Nature makes a pest, or a horrid monster, she usually provides a means of its destruction—just as the most devilish instruments of war sooner or later are hamstringing by new defenses.

And so, when criminals use automobiles, crime becomes an in-laborate enterprise, and for the first time in the history of crime, a big league crime is shoved right up to old Uncle Sam himself.

UNCLE SAM SCORES
Uncle Sam scores a shut-out. His virtually 100 per cent record in catching kidnappers in 30 cases, has given Americans a new feeling of security and a greater faith in their government.

For various definite reasons, it marks the beginning of a new criminology in this country, and a splendid assertion of the civilized mandates of order against disorder, of safety and social well-being against chaos.

Crime, amateur and professional, as it is today, is, of course, a balance brought forward from the pre-depression years when we mistakenly thought we could afford a pretty heavy social overhead of this kind.

The federalists didn't worry much about statistics. Criminals were on the job. There was no doubt of that, and that was all they needed to know.

Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Criminal Identification, has established a new and highly simplified job of catching criminals. Rocking-stone kidnappers, crossing state boundaries gave them all the legal sanctions they needed.

Their work is old-line police work, with its studies of fingerprints and ballistics and laboratory examination of evidence, and the quiet personnel studies of gangster made by its agents. But their power and their procedure are new in national crime. For the first time they are from the political ball-and-chain of municipal enforcement.

"The detection of crime," says Mr. Hoover, "no longer can be carried forward by so-called strong-arm methods. There must be scientific investigation at the scene of the crime, a search for fingerprints, for dirt, for any article of evidence which may be used in the future."

Of Scotland Yard, Senator Cope-

land's committee sounded out the possibility of this, and there was immediately revealed jealousy among the states unwilling to relinquish any of their powers. In effect, the exercise of constitutional federal police authority, widened by the so-called Lindbergh law, of June, 1927, has, for the first time, given the national government an opening for a scientific attack on crime.

And now J. Edgar Hoover with his crime laboratory is working in exactly the same way. There is no ready financial overflow here. It is simply that a great government is scientifically finding out who the criminals are, keeping track of them, studying their identifying peculiarities and laying hands on them with gratifying accuracy.

Newton Baker and his confederates started out to find something about crime. They didn't have much luck. J. Edgar Hoover, on the other hand, tried to find out something about criminals, and they are coming up with gratifying results.

Metallizing on all this, one wonders if it isn't true that most of the human achievements mark a procedure from the particular to the general? Edison was making some wonderful inventions at a time when he was making the three laws of motion.

There is something characteristically American in this new attack on crime. It is the attack on crime in abstraction, and then we start a new synthesis of facts. That's one reason why we believe that any great adaptation of our social order, when and if they come about, will be something all our own, and not something that is imposed on us by the world.

Stalin's Order to U. S. Communists
"The American Communist Party must be improved and Bolshevized. For that end we must work in order to forge real revolutionary cadres and a real revolutionary leadership of the proletariat, capable of leading the many millions of the American working class toward the revolutionary class struggles."
Stalin, in address May 6, 1929.
